

" The Sustainable Fishery Development Workshop 2015" is ready to start! Come and join us!

The Sustainable Fishery Development Workshop 2015 is held jointly by the Department of Environmental Biology and Fisheries Science (EBFS) and Institute of Marine Affairs and Resources Management (MARM), National Taiwan Ocean University (NTOU), during Nov. 17 -28, 2015 in Taiwan.

The workshop will consist of a group of 25 participants mainly from the Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and other countries who come from a variety of different fishery backgrounds.

During the workshop time, various indoor activities and outdoor field trips will be arranged to provide opportunity for participants to see the multicultural operation of domestic fisheries and typical schemes established to improve sustainability of fishery in Taiwan.

The tentative schedule of the workshop:

Date	Items	Place
11/17 (Tue)	Arriving Taiwan	Taoyuan Airport
11/18(Wed)	Opening/Keynote(1)/Country Report/Welcome dinner	Keelung
11/19(Thr)	Country report/Monitoring, control and surveillance	Keelung
11/20(Fri)	International Fishery Show/Eco-labeling	Kaohsiung

	Workshop
11/21(Sat)	Sakura shrimp fishery/ Tuna fishery International Fishery Show	Kaohsiung
11/22(Sun)	National Museum of Marine Biology & Aquarium	Pingtung
11/23(Mon)	Keynote(2)/Climate Change	Keelung
11/24(Tue)	Su-Ao fishermen's Association/ Set net fishery	Yilan
11/25(Wed)	Food Safety Workshop	Keelung
11/26(Thr)	MPA Workshop	Keelung
11/27(Fri)	Reporting/Museum of Marine Science and Technology/Closing ceremony & farewell dinner	Keelung
11/28(Sat)	Going home	Taoyuan Airport

We are very much looking forward to welcome you all in several months' later!

With best regards!

Hsueh-Jung Lu

Professor & Director
Department of Environmental Biology and Fisheries Science
National Taiwan Ocean University